

Robert M. Thompson Appointed VP of Construction for Optimum Development USA

March 5, 2019 CityBizList

Optimum Development USA, a fully integrated real estate and development investment firm with offices in the U.S. and Europe, is proud to announce today the appointment of Robert M. Thompson as the Vice President of Construction. In his new role, Thompson will oversee construction and all related activities for the firm's development projects in the U.S.

Boasting over 40 years of experience in the field of construction, Thompson has worked on projects for residential, commercial, healthcare and sports developments throughout the country. Most recently, Thompson served as the Vice President Operations Manager for Plaza Construction Florida where he oversaw the daily operations of multiple projects in the South Florida marketplace.

"Thompson's extensive experience and knowledge in construction management make him a great addition to our team," said Ricardo Tabet, Co-founder and CEO of Optimum Development USA. "We are proud to announce he will be responsible for spearheading the construction of our projects."

Thompson earned his Bachelor degree from Regents College in New York.
